Quotation marks (3)

Sometimes you want to put who is speaking after the speech. There are rules to follow if you do this. Have a look below.

"Look, I can see a balloon in the sky!" shouted Ali.

- 1. Start with the opening speech marks (") and put a capital letter.
- 2. Have punctuation at the end of the speech (!) and then the closing speech marks (").
- 3. Even though there is an exclamation mark do not use a capital letter for shouted.

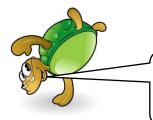

Put in the words that you think might have been spoken in these sentences.

1.	"
		!" cried the child.
3.	"
4.	"	?" asked the hiker.
6.	"	?" asked the vet.
7.	"
8.	"
Na	me	: Page 1

Quotation marks (3)

Sometimes you want to put who is speaking after the speech. There are rules to follow if you do this. Have a look below.

"That's the best goal I have ever seen!" claimed Ben.

- 1. Start with the opening speech marks (") and put a capital letter.
- 2. Have punctuation at the end of the speech (!) and then the closing speech marks (").
- 3. Even though there is an exclamation mark do not use a capital letter for claimed.

Put in the words that you think might have been spoken in these sentences.

1.	"
		!" protested the thief.
3.	"	," the vicar stammered
4.	"
6.	"	?" asked the barber.
7.	"
8.	"
Name:

Rewrite the sentences below putting in all the correct punctuation.

1. john asked has the new Renault car got central locking
2. it also has cruise control and a speed limiter said the salesman
3. jill asked how much would it cost to add a satnav
4. nothing as it already has one included in the price replied the salesman
Now make up your own sentences with speech in, using these starters.
5shouted the fireman.
6 replied the postman.
7 argued the boy.
8 remembered Holly.
Name: Page 3

Quotation marks (3) English worksheets from urbrainy.com

Rewrite the sentences below putting in all the correct punctuation.

. I prefer the black car with the ivory top said mum dad replied I like the orange car with a black roof as it looks cool
are you sure that it has rear parking sensors asked dad
. the salesman claimed the car has everything you would ever want
Now make up your own sentences with speech marks, using these starters.
5screamed the young boy.
o warned the lifeguard.
' urged the football coach.
3 promised the tourist guide.
I protested the prisoner.
Name: Page 4

Quotation marks (3)

Page 5

Answers

Page 1

1-8 Any suitable spoken words.

Page 2

1-8 Any suitable spoken words.

Page 3

- 1. John asked, "Has the new Renault car got central locking?"
- 2. "It also has cruise control and a speed limiter," said the salesman.
- 3. Jill asked, "How much would it cost to add a satnav?"
- 4. "Nothing, as it already has one included in the price." replied the salesman.
- 5-8 Any suitable sentences.

Page 4

- 1. "I prefer the black car with the ivory top." said mum.
- 2. Dad replied, "I like the orange car with a black roof as it looks cool."
- 3. "Are you sure that it has rear parking sensors?" asked dad.
- 4. The salesman claimed, "The car has everything you would ever want."
- 5-9 Any suitable sentences.

Name: