My Friends

For my last birthday, Mum gave me two new toys. One is a pink teddy bear and the other is an orange and black striped tiger. They are nice to hug. They look a lot like my old bear and tiger.

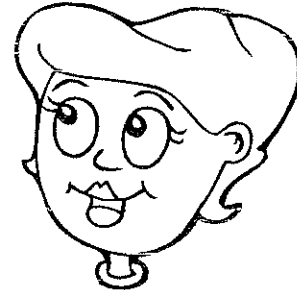

My old toys don't have much fur on them now, but I still love them. They have been my friends for a long time. Mum tried to take them away after she gave me the new ones, but I cried so much she let me keep them.

Now I have a lot of cuddly friends—but I don't have much room left in my bed for me!

A. Tick the circle that gives the best answer for each question.

1. Mum gave me ...

- (a) a teddy bear and a clown.
- (b) a tiger and a teddy bear.
- (c) a turtle and a tiger.
- (d) a teddy bear, a tiger and a rabbit.

2. The old teddy bear and tiger were special because ...

- (a) they were very big and cuddly.
- (b) they had been a present from my Granny.
- (c) they had been my friends for a long time.
- (d) they didn't have much fur.

3. I cried because ...

- (a) I was so happy.
- (b) I wanted a new bike for my birthday instead.
- (c) Mum was going to take my old toys away.
- (d) None of these answers.

4. Why do you think Mum wanted to take the old toys away?

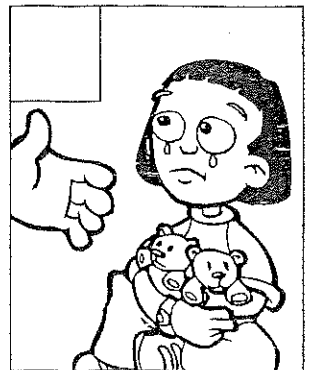

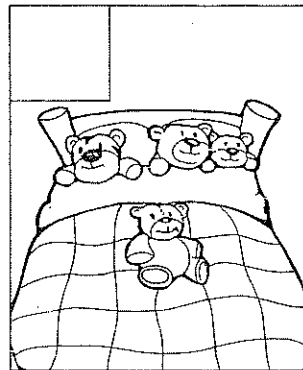

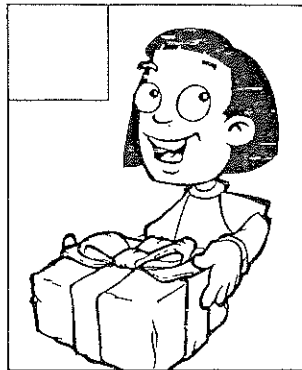

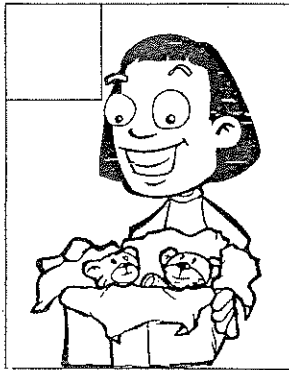

- (a) Because they were old and had no fur left.
- (b) Because they took up too much room on the bed.
- (c) Because she didn't like soft toys.
- (d) Because they weren't cuddly any more.
